REPUBLICANS OF CALLOWAY COUNTY CALL CONVENTION

Have Hope of Electing Ticket Because Democrats Have Split.

Three Candidates Will be Offered Votes.

THEY ARE FIRST-CLASS MEN.

Murray, Ky., April 28. (Special.)—A convention to nominate candidates for county offices has been called by the Republican county committee. At present there are announced candidates for county judge, sheriff and jailer. No nominations have been made for any offices by Calloway Republicans in several years and then no active campaign was made; but in view of the great disruption among Democrats on account of the recent struggle for control of party machinery, it is believed that the minority party has a fair chance of electing a part of a ticket this year.

Tobacco Rush.
While independent tobacco buyers are still riding in some sections of this county, association prices are now having the first rush of the season. Most of the growers who desired to "dump" their holdings, have done so, and the loyal members and those who did not care to break their pledge to the association are now taking their crops to the price houses. Not a single pledge for the new crop has been signed, however, and it is safe to say that not 25 per cent of the 1909 crop will be handled by the association in this county.

Notwithstanding Judge Cook's rigid instructions on the subject, it is understood that the grand jury at this term of court did not indict any growers who broke their pledges with the association.

The Judicial Race.
Judge Cook and J. T. Hanberry are stumping the county this week in interest of candidacy for circuit judge. They spoke at Murray yesterday afternoon. Their speeches were along the same lines as their opening argument two weeks ago, though Cook was bitter, especially in discussing the criticism of his conduct in office that had been made by Governor Wilson, saying that the governor had criticized him for not correcting the members of the mob that whipped Henry Bennett, when Bennett was whipped "if he was whipped at all." In Judge Gordon's district, Cook made reference to the Russellville, Birmingham and other raids, saying they were out of his jurisdiction, but made no reference to the Hopkinsville raid and the numerous raids and whippings in Lyon and Calloway counties, which are in his district, and for which no one has been convicted.

BRYAN WOULD HAVE FEDERAL LICENSE DENIED

Lincoln, Neb., April 28.—Bryan, in the Commoner today urges Congress to enact legislation forbidding the issuance of federal liquor licenses in prohibition states or communities. He says "in spite of the attempt of local authorities in these districts to prohibit the sale of liquor as beverage, the federal government continues to issue licenses in contemptuous disregard of local sentiment, and local laws. Can the government afford to continue in partnership with lawbreakers?"

Invention of Paducahan be Manufactured Here.

E. O. Davis, a Paducahan, has just patented two machines that will revolutionize the making of hosiery in America.

Heretofore hosiery made in this country has not been of the high standard like the hosiery made in foreign countries, for the reason that all stockings and socks are made abroad on what is known as seamless machines. These machines knit the hose without a seam and the objection to the domestic stocking is the closing of the toe. Up until recently there has been no elasticity in the toe and if the hose was stretched it was bound to tear. Foreign hose has either a seam along the bottom of the foot or along the side of the foot, but by an invention of Mr. E. O. Davis, who has been in charge of the knitting department of the Wisdom Hosiery mills on South Eighth street, for several years, elasticity has been given to the toe of domestic hose and all seams are done away with, therefore making the home product better finished than imported textile goods.

A company has been organized and incorporated for $20,000 in this city known as the Southern Textile Machine company, for the purpose of manufacturing a new steady movement looper for which there are large demands from eastern manufacturers of textile goods and also for the manufacture of other patents pending for the improvement of knitting and weaving machines. The officers of the new company are F. E. Lack, president; E. O. Davis, vice president; Dr. R. E. Hearne, secretary, and Robert B. Phillips, treasurer. Mr. E. O. Davis is in charge of the main office, which is located at

WESTON'S ROMANCE.

St. Louis, April 28.—It is reported here that Weston's walk to San Francisco is made in the hope of reconciliation with his wife from whom he separated 42 years ago. She did not like the notoriety resulting from his walking. He refused to give up walking and they parted. It is said a meeting has been arranged between them at San Francisco, where the wife is now living, at the end of the walk. Two grown children also will be there. Weston refuses to discuss the question. He will arrive at St. Louis this afternoon.

BULGER TO ASK FOR NEW TRIAL

Attorney Hal S. Corbett will leave tomorrow morning for Wickliffe, where he will argue the motion for a new trial in the case of John Bulger, who was given two years in the penitentiary for robbing the Ballard county bank. If Judge Hugg refuses to grant a new trial an appeal will be taken on the cases, the attorneys declare.

WEST, ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IS IN BAD

Louisville, April 28.—The Rev. G. W. West, superintendent of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon league, has resigned and will leave Kentucky on account of charges of improper conduct with several little girls April 5 at the Methodist church at Catlettsburg. One child's father threatened to kill West, but could not find him. West denies any wrong doing and says he was only playing with them.

AMERICAN MISSIONARIES ALMOST WITHOUT FOOD

Constantinople, April 28.—"Hadjin is almost entirely without food," every one is in danger of starvation the provincial authorities refuse to protect us and outside aid is imperatively called for, will you send it." is a message reached here written Monday by Miss Rose Lambert, and shows the desperate condition of the American missionaries. "The provincial authorities seem impotent, and are making no attempt to restore order. Our first messenger was killed while trying to get a letter through the Moslem fire," continues the message.

AMERICANS, EUROPEANS MAY ALSO SUFFER DEATH

Smyrna, April 28.—Messages received here today from many interior towns implore that troops will be sent as this is only means of preventing one of the worst massacres of Christians in the world's history. Regard for foreigners is first shown but it is feared Americans and Europeans may soon suffer the same fate as the Armenians.

A HUNDRED PROTESTANT MISSIONARIES BURNED.
London, April 28.—Consular dispatches received here today, at foreign office, say a hundred Protestant missionaries lost their lives in the burning of the church in the Adana district, where they had taken refuge from the mob. The dispatches express great wrath of the consuls toward the governor general who, it is declared, was warned of the danger to the missionaries, and who could easily have prevented the atrocity.

American Board Doubts It.
Boston, April 28.—No details have been received here by the American board of commissioners of foreign missions of the reported burning of a hundred missionaries by Moslem mob in the district of Adana. Dr. Potten, of the board, declares some mistake must have been made as the district only has thirty-three missionaries, two in the city of Adana.

DEATH SENTENCE IS VERDICT FOR GEORGE FREEMAN

Court of Appeals Sustains the First Ballot Taken Without an Election---Barry and Eaton Neck and Neck---Second Ballot Being Taken.

Freeman Killed Elsie Cobb Eighteen Months Ago.

PRISONER IS VERY RELIGIOUS.

Frankfort, Ky., April 28. (Special.)—George Freeman, colored, must hang as the court of appeals sustained the McCracken county circuit court this morning. Freeman was given a verdict of death for the murder of Elsie Cobb, colored, and the appellate court said that the jury was warranted fully in reaching its verdict.

The date of the execution of Freeman is set by Governor Wilson, and it will take place in not less than thirty days and not more than ninety days.

When informed of the decision of the higher court, Freeman dropped his head, but had nothing to say. He was eating dinner when told but did not let the decision prevent him from eating a hearty meal.

Freeman shot and killed Elsie Cobb in a restaurant on Malden alley near Kentucky avenue about eighteen months ago. The commonwealth established a strong case, and proved that Freeman went armed looking for the woman, and shot her after she fell to the floor. He escaped, but was caught near Second and Jefferson street by Patrolmen Cross and Johnson after a hard battle. Since his imprisonment in the county jail Freeman has become religious and declares he is ready to die. He reads the Bible constantly. At the last term of court he was sentenced to be hanged February 26, but an appeal was taken.

The Convention is Having Lively Time---Paducah Crowd Gets in Its Work in the Credentials Committee

First Ballot Taken Without an Election---Barry and Eaton Neck and Neck---Second Ballot Being Taken.

Convention adjourned until tonight at 8 o'clock.

Nobody has sufficient votes on the bench to win.

The race just now is between E. Barry, of Marshall; W. V. Eaton, of Paducah, and John M. Moore, of Ballard. Most of Moore's delegates are instructed for Barry as second choice. This includes Milan precinct, McCracken county. If Moore gets out of the race Barry will win. If Eaton gets out of the race his delegates will go to Moore, and Moore will win.

The Paducah crowd won on preliminary organization and the report of the credentials committee would give them 514 votes. The credentials committee also declared no credentials had ever been received from Henderson and Massac precincts, though the delegates said they turned them into the secretaries, who are Magistrate C. W. Emery and G. W. Walters. Luther Graham is chairman of the credentials committee. These two precincts have 247 votes.

W. A. Berry wished the report to be adopted without any discussion. The long delays are to wear out the farmers so the Paducah crowd can win.

When Chairman Fisher this afternoon asked for the report of the committee on credentials, M. E. Gilbert produced the credentials for the delegates from Massac and Henderson precincts and handed them in to the chairman.

Luther Graham, chairman of the committee on credentials, reported that delegates from Henderson's and Massac be seated, and it was adopted unanimously. Mr. Graham read affidavits of Claude Shemwell, who said that there was no whisky in the credentials committee room and that he was looking after the interest of Barry.

Ernest Lackey, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, read the recommendation that the temporary organization be made permanent, and on motion of W. A. Berry, it was adopted.

Secretary Emery read the resolutions refusing to endorse Governor Wilson's administration, but endorsing the Democratic members of congress and also all Democrats now in office in Kentucky.

On motion of W. A. Berry, of Paducah, the convention proceeded to the nomination by the call of counties. Jesse Nichols, of Ballard, nominated J. M. Moore. Budgetmaster, of Bardwell, nominated John Davis, of Carlisle. Abner Barkley, of Paducah, nominated W. V. Eaton, of Paducah. Judge R. E. Shemwell, of Benton, nominated, E. Barry, of Benton. Henry Hollins nominated B. J. Wyatt, of Marshall.

The endorsement of the Democratic state officials was meant for prison officials, Eli Brown and Harvey McCutcheon.

W. A. Berry challenged the right of Dr. Owen to cast the proxy of Brinkley precinct, under a rule that the credentials committee had adopted. This rule was never read before the convention. He said that Owen did not hold the original proxy, but Owen contended that he did, and a bitter debate ensued, as the delegates saw that they had been tricked. The rule was not read before the convention until AFTER the report had been adopted.

Mr. Ray said that he knew Owen held the original proxy, and Owen produced the proxy.

By fraying up the rules of the credentials committee, which were adopted as stated before without being read before the convention, and it is a fact that they were not read this morning nor this afternoon and that none of the delegates knew of it until the chairman used it as a club on them when the occasion arose, the Paducah crowd cheered Judge Barry out of several hundred votes. The rule was that none but the original holder of the proxy could vote it. Many Barry men had transferred their

BLACKMAILERS.

Boston, Mass., April 28.—Charged with threatening to regain kidnap Billy Whitt, of Sharon, Pa., unless his father sent $10,000, John W. Wright, of Boston, and Ernest H. Martin, of Dorchester, were arrested here. Some days ago James Whitt received from Boston a letter saying they were not interested in the boy, but to send the money or it might mean death for the boy. Whitt gave the letter to the federal authorities.

proxies, so lost out on this rule. It is true the convention had adopted the rule, but it thought it was merely adopting an amendment.

In the South Benton precinct Henry Hollins had promised to split the vote between Barry and Wyatt, but he went back on the promise. He had made it in the presence of Chairman Fisher.

Cries of "Be a man, stand by your agreement," were heard. An appeal was made to Fisher but he was afraid to say how the vote should be, and 59 votes were cast for Wyatt. The balance were held up. Suppressed biases were heard for the chair.

The first ballot resulted:

Eaton 3242
Barry 3406
Moore 1,472
Davis 768

Ray moved that no candidate be declared nominated until he received 4,800. W. A. Berry appealed to the chair, who sustained his objection.

The credentials committee, by Chairman Graham, this morning reported seating Burl Elsey, of West Hardwell, an anti-Barry delegate, whose credentials were signed by the precinct chairman; R. Howell, of Bandana, anti-Barry delegate, and W. N. Warren, an Eaton delegate from Gallman's precinct, whose credentials were not signed by the precinct committeeman. The committee also reported that Mr. Jones, the Barry delegate from Massac precinct, this county, with 114 votes, and John Youker, of Henderson, who cast his 133 votes for T. E. Gardner for temporary chairman, did not have any credentials. They both said they handed their credentials in yesterday.

This report was made when Temporary Chairman Jack Fisher called the convention to order at 10 o'clock and W. A. Berry again assumed the role of floor manager and moved the adoption of the report. He and M. E. Gilbert demanded recognition at the same time, Gilbert moving to lay the motion on the table and Berry calling for the original question. Berry insisted that the original question cut off all debate. Jack Fisher looked as if he wanted to say that, too, and couldn't.

While Jack was trying to say it, Gilbert managed to declare that some one had stolen the credentials, that it was an attempt at political robbery, and asked if the chair intended to sit up and allow the whisky ring and a lot of bums to run over the people of the district. He was wildly cheered.

Chairman Graham arose in righteous indignation at the hint that his committee would do anything undesirable.

BIG TOBACCO SALES AT BOHMER'S TODAY

Tobacco sales at Bohmer's loose leaf warehouse this morning were 30,000 pounds of tobacco offered and sold. There were no rejections. The prices ranged from $3.50 to $3.80 a hundred pounds.

HAWKINS ESCAPES FROM CITY JAIL TODAY

Robert Lee Hawkins, a man for whom the police searched for a week escaped from the city jail at noon today. Hawkins was accused of enticing James Estes, 14 years old, 1739 Harrison street, away from a relative at Birmingham, Ala., and was being held until a warrant could be served on him. He was arrested in Cairo, Ill., last week, and was brought to Paducah.

Hawkins escaped from the side door, and he did it so quietly that he was not detected, although he was discovered missing in a few minutes. The door was not damaged, and the lock was not broken. It is believed that he picked the lock, or had a duplicate key. The last trace of Hawkins was that he was going in a run for the river, where doubtless he crossed in a skiff.

CLASS HONORS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL ANNOUNCED TODAY

First to Miss Julia Dabney, Second to Miss Clara Smith.

Miss Dreyfus Only Fraction Behind Miss Smith.

COMMENCEMENT JUNE 10TH.

Valedictorian—Miss Julia Dabney. Salutatorian—Miss Clara Smith.

Honor pupils of the June division of the 1909 graduating class of the High school were announced this morning at opening exercises by Prof. W. H. Suggs, principal. The first honor went to Miss Julia Dabney with an average of 90.5 per cent for all studies during the four years, while the second honor was awarded Miss Clara Smith, who had a per cent of 88.15-16. Miss Smith and Miss Aimee Dreyfus had a close race for the second honor, as Miss Dreyfus' average was 88.9-16, just six-sixteenths of a per cent lower.

The valedictorian of the January division of the class is Miss Marlan Williamson, and the salutatorian is Miss Irma Yelzer. Owing to the fact that there are two divisions of the class there will be two salutatory speeches and two valedictories. This unusual condition is brought about by the fact that the first midyear division finished the course last January. However, from now on every year there will be two divisions of the graduating class, but the class will be graduated as a whole in June.

Because of the fact that there are four honor pupils of the class they will be permitted to draw for their places on the program. The two salutatorians will draw for the first address and the two valedictories will draw for the last position. All four of the honor pupils will have a part on the program, but the drawing will be done to settle the positions. The committee on school with the superintendent has the right to designate the order in which the speakers shall appear on the program but this will not be done as long as it can be settled harmoniously by the students.

Miss Dabney, who won the valedictory, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Dabney, 503 North Fifth street, and is a girl of unusual talent. Her brother, Mr. Vaughan Dabney, was the salutatorian of the class of 1904. She will fill the place with honor.

Miss Smith, who was awarded second place, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Smith, 523 Madison street. She has decided literary talent and is the author of "The Three Graces," which will be presented by the senior class on class night. Miss Smith was a contestant in the recent oratorical contest and won second honor. She is a graceful speaker.

The members of the June division are: Misses Julia Dabney, Clara Smith, Aimee Dreyfus, Katherine Rock, Allie D. Foster, Eleanor Cahell and Messrs. Edward Mitchell, John Rinkoff and Frank Luffenburg. The members of the January division are: Misses Marlan Williamson, Irma Yelzer, Lucy Settle, Elizabeth Kirkland; Messrs. George Rawleigh and George Scott, who is a student at the State university.

The entertainment committee of the Alumni association met yesterday afternoon with Miss Olga List, but no decision was reached in regard to the reception that will be given to the graduates. The committee will decide between a trolley ride over the city followed by a reception at Wallace park or a boat excursion on the river.

The commencement in June will be the twenty-fifth commencement that Superintendent Carnagey has assisted with, either as principal of a high school or superintendent of the schools.

Castro's Wealth Told.
Caracas, Venezuela, April 25.—It is persistently reported that Cipriano Castro left a fortune in gold buried in Caracas. If this is so, it explains Castro's alleged lack of funds and his anxiety to get back to Venezuela. Negotiations have begun between the Venezuelan government and a representative of the Ethelburg, a syndicate of London, for a settlement of the disputes over the match and salt monopolies of Venezuela, held until recently by English companies.

TAKING BONDS

Kentucky and Ohio River Interurban.

Road to Be in Operation in Two Years From Date—Cairo and Poplar Bluff Line.

$25,000 BONDS WILL BE TAKEN

There is every reason to believe that people of Cairo will take the $25,000 in bonds for the Kentucky & Ohio River Interurban Railroad company and that the matter will be closed in a very few days so far as Cairo is concerned. The Commercial club committee, which has the matter in hand, Charles S. Carey, W. J. Johnston, Charles Feuchter and Mayor Parsons, have met with much encouragement. Mr. Carey, chairman of the Commercial club committee, and Mr. Feuchter, representing the company, were out yesterday calling on some of the citizens. A goodly number of subscriptions have been taken and other citizens are considering the proposition with a reasonable certainty that they will take some of the bonds.

Interurban railroads are paying enterprises this Kentucky road is especially promising. As bonds are not to be paid for till thirty days after the road has been built and in operation, the proposition looks favorable to men of means.

The road is to be completed within two years from date and is to deliver passengers and freight into Cairo. Mr. Carey says he has no doubt the $25,000 will be taken in a few days. Cairo & Poplar Bluff.

The Cairo & Poplar Bluff electric line is the latest project of this nature that has been started and some effective work is being done for it by G. W. Tucker according to reliable reports. Mr. Tucker is going over the line and preparing to make surveys and secure right of ways through the several counties which the line is to traverse. Mr. Tucker has had experience in electric line construction. He will be able to report progress in a little while.—Cairo Bulletin.

OFFERS $10,000,000 TO SIGNAL MARS

Prof. W. H. Pickering Urged to Make Experiment.

Harvard Astronomer Not Certain
Planet is Inhabited—Advises Delay.

CONSIDER IT FIELD IDEAL.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 28.—A fund of $10,000,000 has been raised for the purpose of signaling the planet Mars, if William Henry Pickering, professor of astronomy of Harvard University, will say the word. It is pointed out that the clarified atmosphere, level ground and large uninhabited areas of West Texas make the conditions perfect for experiments in that section.

The Star and Telegram, an afternoon paper here, sent Prof. Pickering a message saying it had been authorized to make the pledge for extensive experiments if he would make them.

While Prof. Pickering has not yet replied to the offer, it is said that he would enter heartily into any experiments of this kind, but that he would advise those who made the offer to wait until additional and more conclusive evidence as to the habitation of Mars had been secured by observation before spending so large a sum on experiments which might prove of but little value.

Immense Sum Not Needed.

Houston, Tex., April 28.—Prof. Pickering said he would advise those behind the Texas movement to establish an observatory of the highest possible efficiency in some favorable location in West Texas, where he and other celebrated astronomers can carry on extended observations of the planet within the next few years. This could be done, he said, for a very small part of the immense sum which it is proposed to expend on the undertaking.

"These observations," the professor continued, "may yield information such as would warrant further and more costly steps in the work, namely, the building of enormous reflectors by means of which the sun's light can be reflected at sufficient intensity to reach through the 400,000,000 miles between the earth and Mars, and attract the attention of the planet's inhabitants."

Discussing the matter at length, Prof. Pickering said: "The brevity of the telegram from Texas does not permit me to say from what source the money for the experiments is coming—the telegram was signed with the name of the newspaper."

So Come Near in Fall.

"However, I don't feel that we know enough about the planet as yet to spend much money in signaling to

INSTANT RELIEF FROM DREAD CATARRH.

Why don't you get rid of that nasty, humiliating disease catarrh? You can do it if you really want to. But you can't cure catarrh in a few days, that's an utter impossibility, because there is no remedy known that will kill the catarrh germs in that short time.

But you can cure catarrh if you will have a little patience and breathe in Hyomel (pronounced High-o-mey) three or four times a day.

Hyomel cures catarrh by killing the germs and it kills the germs because it gets where the germs are.

Hyomel is a powerful antiseptic and germ killer; it is made from the fluid extracted from the eucalyptus trees of inland Australia where catarrh has never existed.

It gives relief instantly, stops hawking in a few days and is guaranteed to cure catarrh, asthma, croup and bronchitis or money back. A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs $1.00, and extra bottles of Hyomel if afterward needed, cost but 50 cents. Sold by leading druggists everywhere.

"Hyomel certainly saved my life and I accord it the credit which it deserves and merits. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomel."—Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Custer Ave., Caldwell, N.J., Aug. 22, 1908.

possible inhabitants. But the planet will shortly come around into a position of exceptional advantage for the observation. As it moves about its orbit it comes into a position where it is nearest to the earth than at any other time of the year.

"Its average mean distance from the earth in the last several years is approximately 45,000,000 miles. But next fall—or, rather, late next summer—the planet will swing around to a position only 30,000,000 miles from the earth.

"If an observatory of efficiency is in working order in the clear atmosphere of the West Texas hills about that time some very surprising observations and records might be secured. If the observations found warranted going on with the work there would still be plenty of time for expending the large sum necessary to build the immense multiple reflectors necessary for such an undertaking."

FRIDAY CLOSES

TRASH CONTEST

City Needs Its Wagons Must Close Contest Earlier.

Contests for Improved Yards, However, Extended to May the Seventeenth.

FLAG TO BE AWARDED MAY 17

Cleaning up contests for Children—Close Friday.
Contest for most improved premises—Extended to May 17.
Flag to school—Awarded May 17.

The committee in charge of the prize contest met this morning in regard to extending the time beyond April 30. Many petitions have been received urging that this be done, but the board of public works cannot afford to give the use of the wagons any longer, as there is much city work waiting to be done and all the wagons are in constant use hauling the trash away for the contestants. They average about 75 loads a day, the street inspector reported.

It was decided that the contests where the children are concerned will close on Friday next, as first announced. The contest, however, for the most improved premises will be continued until May 17, as many residents who wish to enter into it have been unable to plant flowers and do other yard work on account of the unseasonable cold weather. This will include the awarding of the flag to the most improved school yard also.

All the children who are contesting are urged to get busy in finishing up their work, as only two more days remain for the trash to be hauled away and to notify Streets Inspector Ernest Bell at once placing in their orders. It will be impossible to extend the work beyond next Friday.

REEFOOT LAKE BILL PASSES LEGISLATURE.

Nashville, Tenn., April 28.—The hottest fight of the post-recess session occurred in the house of representatives, one on the Reelfoot lake bill and the other on the fish and game law. By a vote of 73 to 8, the senate bill directing the attorney general to clear up the state's title to Reelfoot lake was passed, and the new fish and game law was passed by a vote of 66 to 7. The bill authorizing the condemnation of Reelfoot lake was also passed by practically the same vote as its companion bill.

Spencer Taylor attacked the Reelfoot bill bitterly, declaring that to pass it would, in effect, condone the acts and substantiate the contentions of the night riders; that it was confiscatory, and that the substance of the whole thing was to have the supreme court reverse itself. Mr. Puryear led the fight for the bill, and the arguments accompanying the consideration of the bill were very able, even though they were a little warm.

The bill authorizing the condemnation of the lake provoked little discussion. All opposition to the proposition of state control of that body of water was transferred to the bill attacking the title of the West Tennessee Land company to the lake. It was not passed, however, until an amendment limiting the expenditure for employment of assistant counsel to $5,000, proposed by Mr. Webb, had been adopted. An amendment by Mr. Langford, to empower the attorney general to investigate the titles, and then proceed in the manner he saw proper, was lost, and as it stands that official must institute suit without exercising any discretion as to whether he thinks it a meritorious or a useless appeal to the courts.

suffer greatly from their nerves. They twitch, pull, ache and throb and keep things all wrought up. What is needed is a gentle tonic like Cardui, to soothe the nerves into forgetfulness and repose.

Of course the reason you need Cardui is that it is a woman's medicine, that acts on womanly troubles, hence helps womanly nerves.

Cardui has been so wonderfully successful in relieving or curing other women's ailments, that we are pretty safe in saying it will surely help you.

Experience counts. Read the experience of Mrs. Alta Hanes, of Griffithville, Ark. She says: "Before I took Cardui for my female troubles, I suffered death a thousand times. I used to have nervous spells until sometimes I didn't want to live another minute. The first bottle helped me, and after taking ten bottles I am today a well woman." Try Cardui.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE LIKELY TO PASS

Bill Advanced to Third Reading in Illinois Senate.

Ballot for Senator Resulted in No
Material Change—Hopkins and Adairsons Hold Conference.

THE BILLS PASSED YESTERDAY

Springfield, Ill., April 28.—Proceeding by habitual criminals, idiots and imbeciles will be prevented if Senator Womack's bill, which passed the senate, becomes a law. It provides that physicians in the state institutions to prevent procreation may, where deemed necessary, perform the operation of sterilizing on habitual criminals, idiots and imbeciles.

For Woman's Suffrage.

Woman's suffrage had a close call in the senate. A motion to strike out the enacting clause in the Woman's suffrage bill and kill it outright was lost by a vote of 25 yeas to 20 nays, one short of the constitutional majority of the senate. The bill was then amended to apply only to the election of municipal and township officers. The measure then went to the third reading and it is likely that it will pass the senate.

The senate passed the bill compelling railroads to have full train crews on all trains, and providing what shall constitute a full crew. The bill has the backing of all the railroad men's organizations of the state. The house passed the bill making it a felony to sell glandered horses.

Vote for Senator.

Senator Hopkins and his managers, United States Marshal Hitt and Senator Perry, had a conference with Governor Dixon just before the legislature went into joint session to vote on senator.

To Stop Market Cornering.

The house committee on judiciary voted to report out favorably G. H. A. Wilson's bill prohibiting the selling of wheat or any other grain food stuffs, stocks or bonds, unless the seller is the actual owner of the commodity sold at the time of the transaction, prohibiting the hoarding of trades or stock exchanges from permitting such sales and providing for the punishment of telegraph and telephone companies from sending messages in aid of such sales. There was but one dissenting vote.

WAR IN TURKEY

despotism such as the country had not experienced in many generations. The Armenian massacres of 1895-6 were laid at the doors of the sultan, but whether he directly fostered them or not is not known. Yet Abdul Hamid has performed some valuable services to his country in addition to preventing the partition of his domains in Europe among the powers. He took the Turkish army, disorganized and useless, and made of it a strong fighting force. He organized an educational system, permitted a daily press inspection and gave munificently to Muslim charities.

Mohammed Legal Successor.
Mohammed Reschad Effendi, the younger brother of Abdul Hamid, was born November 2, 1814, and is, legally and according to the Muslim law, the successor of Abdul Hamid.

Up to the granting of the constitution last July Mohammed Reschad Effendi lived in practical captivity in a palace on the shores of the Bosphorus. He was surrounded by a household composed of eunuchs of the sultan, who spied upon his every action. He was not permitted to leave the palace grounds without the permission of the sultan. Since the advent of the popular government last year he has enjoyed a degree of personal liberty heretofore unknown to him.

Will Recognize New Ruler.

Washington, April 28.—Prompt recognition will be given the new government of Turkey by the administration when the official news of the order of things in the empire reaches Washington. Today the officials had to depend entirely for their information on the Associated Press dispatches, as Ambassador Leshman is evidently awaiting the formal announcement of the selection of the new sultan, by the Turkish foreign office before communicating to the state department. Speculation is rife as to what will happen under the re-organized government, it being recognized that in the present chaotic condition of affairs nobody can safely predict what the outcome will be. The universal opinion, however, is that if the Young Turk party is equal to the trust imposed, a new era with bright prospects is in store for Turkey.

Official Announcement.

Washington, April 28.—Official dispatches confirming the deposition of Abdul Hamid as sultan and the proclamation of his brother, Mohammed Reschad Effendi, as "Mehmed V," were received at the Turkish embassy.

Seize All Hamid's Goods.

London, April 28.—A dispatch from Constantinople says the committee has seized all the former sultan's effects, including his jewels, as well as his vast personal fortune.

No Improvement.

Belmont, April 28.—The latest advices received here show little improvement in the conditions throughout the disturbed regions of Asiatic Turkey. Every day adds to the suffering of the refugees and to the death list. A dispatch from Adana says that the fires have been extinguished, but there is great fear of further incendiarism. The American mission buildings are among those devastated. Twenty thousand persons are destitute and there are few supplies of any kind.

Hadjin, which has withstood several attacks, is still besieged. All the American missionaries there were safe up to last night. No direct word was received from them today. Beirut is quiet and the announcement of the succession of Mohammed Reschad Effendi to Abdul Hamid as sultan was well received.

Bethschemoun Approved.

Paris, April 28.—French newspapers in general approve of the de-thronement of the sultan. The opinion is held that the strong and regenerated Turkey will be able to present a firm front to those who covet the outlying provinces, which will be the best means of preventing the re-opening of the near eastern question.

Favors Young Turks.

London, April 28.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Chronicle has received in audience by Mehmed Reschad. In an interview the new sultan declared that he had always been the advocate of a constitutional chapter and parliamentary institutions. He announced himself a firm supporter of the policy of the Young Turks.

CHURCHMEN IN ATTENDANCE.

Bond of Extension of M. E. Church, South.

Memphis, Tenn., April 28.—Churchmen from every section of the south are in attendance here upon the sessions of the bond of church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. The body will be in conference three days. The deliberations of the board are being held in the First Methodist church. A preliminary meeting was held before the general meeting was called to order. About 100 prominent churchmen participated in the meeting, which was presided over by the Rev. — F. McMurray, of Louisville, Ky.

Does Your Back Ache?

If you are a woman and you have this symptom get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound without delay. Backache seems an invention of the evil one to try woman's souls. Only those who suffer this way can understand the wearing, ceaseless misery.

We ask all such women to read the two following letters for proof that Mrs. Pinkham's medicine cures backache caused by female diseases.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I have been a great sufferer with a constant pain in my back. I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it, and the pain has disappeared. I feel like a new woman since that awful pain has gone, and may God bless the discoverer of that great and wonderful remedy."—Mrs. Peter Gaffney, 548 Marcey Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world about it."

"I suffered from female troubles and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I am ready to tell every one what this medicine has done for me."—Mrs. Emma Inso, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made thousands of cures of such cases. You notice we say has cured thousands of cases. That means that we are telling you what it has done, not what we think it will do. We are stating facts, not guesses.

We challenge the world to name another remedy for female ills which has been so successful or received so many testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge.

"Students Not Allowed To Drink Coffee—"

"A few cents will buy a very fair lunch at the 'New Tech. High,' Cleveland."

"But Students are not allowed to drink coffee without a doctor's prescription."

Good evidence that thinking people—educators and others—know coffee is a thing to be used with some risk.

Well posted people now understand why coffee-drinking should be regulated by the doctor. It contains a drug—CAF-FEINE—which is the cause of numerous ails, little and big, some becoming serious.

Postum is right for "School lunch-rooms," as it contains no coffee or other harmful substance.

Postum is made of clean, hard wheat, skillfully roasted—including the bran-coat wherein Nature has grown the valuable phosphate of potash. This organic "vital" sale is necessary to rebuild wasted brain and nerve cells.

School children use up an enormous amount of brain and nerve cells—they're growing fast.

Let School children have Postum with good cream or milk. They like it when properly brewed and a week's time will tell—a tale of good nourishment.

Daily Thought.
It is always right and always in fashion to do good.

There is a new face at the harem door today.

It's always a clean convention to those who do the cleaning up.

The cavalier treatment of bakers by the millers make us long for a return of the day when knighthood was in flour.

Newton Utley is the only man in the Black Patch, who has had the temerity to publicly resent the imputation that he was a night rider. We think better of him for it.

Of course, it will take time to disabuse the minds of Barry's followers that the count of ballots was not unnecessarily delayed, while the Paducah ring was making converts yesterday, but this is politics, gentlemen.

T. E. Gardner was elected temporary chairman of the convention yesterday for about five minutes, until two votes were changed. It was only a coincidence when one of the secretaries walked down from the stage and whispered in the ear of someone before the vote was announced.

THE REIGN OF LAW.

Night riding is over in Kentucky. The few papers, of whom The Sun was one, that openly denounced lawlessness in the beginning, were heartily criticized because timorous ones thought the state would be given a bad name. As usual, the state was given a bad name, not because newspapers dared expose outrages, but because the courts did not perform their duty and juries refused to convict the guilty.

Kentucky's reputation has been restored; for the same papers that so vigorously denounced night riding, just as zealously have been publishing reports of trials in the federal courts and the convictions in this circuit. Kentucky has been redeemed, and to Governor Wilson and the few local officials, who stood by him, is due much of the credit for the restoration of order.

The governor was criticized for sending out troops. The Kentucky soldier boys, of whom the state has cause to be proud, were called Wilson's Hessians. But they parolled the Black Patch and they restored confidence in the law, and gradually public opinion was regained its balance. The reaction was rapid. Night riding is now unpopular, and the papers, that denounced Wilson, are vigorously on the side of law and order.

Let the news be spread abroad. Kentucky is not only a peaceful state, but she has an administration capable of restoring order and maintaining it, and the overwhelming majority of the people are with it.

HOUSE FERNS.

There are few members of the extensive fern family that thrive in the ordinary living room. The native habit of the fern is in a warm, moist atmosphere and the dry air of the dwelling is detrimental. Some of the best ferns which do remarkably well under adverse conditions are the maiden hair, known as Adiantum Crocaceum, the Pteris Victorica, and the Boston fern with the many different "sports" that have sprung from it in recent years. The hardest by all means is the Boston fern, but many of the freak varieties, known as "sports" which have sprung from it combine great beauty with hardiness to a remarkable degree.

All the varieties named are in common cultivation among the florists from whom plants suitable for growing in the living room may be obtained. A little care with a house fern will make it last many seasons, and increase rapidly in size and business. A soil composed of leaf mold and a little sharp sand will be found to produce the best results. Give plenty of water but be sure that the pot drains well. Be careful not to overwater, as this weakens the plant.

If growing Boston ferns cut off all the runners all allow only one or three crowns to a plant. Always keep the plants out of the sun and keep a close watch to stop the ravages of the mealy bug if it appears. Flea spider and thrip are also troublesome pests and can be fought by spraying the foliage with a weak solution of tobacco water.

SOME STORIES AROUND TOWN

Traveling salesmen have many funny experiences, and being thrown with so many people make them keen judges of human nature. Mr. Will Clark tells the following story of his experience in a restaurant in one of the out of the way places: "Several men were eating at one table, and one of them seemed to be in a hurry. Addressing an elegant gentleman he said 'Please pass them beans, mister.'"

"The man to whom he addressed his remark raised his gold glasses, and after looking at the man for a minute said, 'Did you think I was one of the waiters?' and at the same time showing his disgust."

"Several of the salesmen around the table punched each other, and expected to see the rural citizen go up in the air, and thrash the aristocratic citizen, but no such phenomenon happened. The farmer turned and said, 'Well, come here.'"

"I want to apologize to you, that's all. You see I mistook this party for you, but I hope you won't be offended at it. Now just pass them beans and we will go on with the dinner."

MILITIA CALLED OUT IN WETS AND DRY FIGHT.

Chillicothe, O., April 28.—The local militia was called out today to restrain the warring wets and drys at the local option election here. Trouble started early with the arrest of District Superintendent Eldridge, of the Anti-Saloon league on a trespass charge while he was seeking evidence of hoodlums. The leaders on both sides, including the chief of police, were arrested.

BURDENS LIFTED.

From Paducah Backs—Relief Proved by Lapse of Time.

Backache is a heavy burden; Nervousness wears one out; Rheumatic pain; urinary ills; All are kidney burdens—Daily effects of kidney weakness. No use to cure the symptoms. Relief is but temporary if the cause remains.

Cure the kidneys and you cure the cause.

Relief comes quickly—comes to stay.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure kidney ills; Prove it by your neighbor's case. Here's Paducah testimony. The story of a permanent cure. Mrs. George Roman, 2233 Meyers street, Paducah, Ky., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney trouble for a long time. I was bothered by an aching back and lameness in my shoulders, in fact, was never without a pain or ache of some sort. I used a great deal of medicine but never found anything that relieved me as much as Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at the DuBois Son & Co.'s drug store. I now feel well and my condition has improved in every way." (Statement given in 1900.)

A Permanent Cure.

On February 18th, Mrs. Roman said: "I am glad to say that I have not had an attack of kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I have every reason to believe that my cure is permanent."

coming, and said it had sent word to the lobby of the Palmer House that credentials were missing. The delegates said they were not in the lobby. It was hinted a megaphone wasn't used in sending the word.

MacD. Ferguson moved, as a substitute, that the convention recess 15 minutes until the delegates could furnish credentials or affidavits. Berry pretended to agree with him and amended the substitute, extending the recess until 2 o'clock. Ferguson said the delegates wished to go home and protested at the delay, which recalled the fact that anti-Barry delegates are riding on street car tickets, and some have their hotel bills paid.

Delegate Cooke then suggested that the committee produce the credentials, as he understood the delegates had turned them in. W. A. Berry defended the committee by saying the credentials were all given by the secretary of the convention to the committee.

Then Jack Fisher found his voice and put the motion to adjourn until 2 o'clock. There was a smattering of ayes and a storm of noes that staggered the ayes.

gered Jack for a moment. After a breathless pause he said: "The ayes have it," and grabbed his hat and ducked down the steps.

First Day's Session.

The first day's session was notable principally for a series of half-brother escapes, especially on preliminary organization.

W. A. Berry saved the day, but not without providential intervention. It was fortunate that Jack Fisher, delegate from South Benton, supposedly friendly to Barry, gave his proxy to an anti-Barry man and stood for the temporary chairmanship, but, even at that, he would have been beaten had not W. A. Berry changed the votes from two McCracken precincts, while they were being counted.

John Younkers, of Henderson, an Eaton man, voted for T. E. Gardner, of Carlisle for chairman, as a matter of preference. He had 133 votes. As luck would have it, the secretaries were unconsciously long counting the ballots, while W. A. Berry was explaining to the delegate how necessary Jack Fisher was in Eaton's program. Then it seemed that the secretaries all arrived at different conclusions, and one newspaperman who had kept tally himself sent off the report that Gardner was elected, which, indeed, he was for the time. But Mr. Berry and Representative Eugene Graves labored with E. O. Kelly, a Barry delegate from Lamont and changed his 46 votes to Jack Fisher. After that the secretaries managed to attain a correct computation of the vote; but the newspaper man's report was wrong, for Berry and Graves had changed 193 votes and Fisher won by 193.

W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., presided over the early stages of the meeting with dignity and impartiality, and there was evidence of a determination to deal with perfect sincerity in the matter of all the contests.

The deal by which Jack Fisher was chosen temporary chairman, went no further. All interests antagonistic to Barry combined; but Holland had a full fledged boom on early in the day.

The rough work was done during the afternoon intermission and last night. One young delegate said he was offered $100 to desert Barry. His informant told him "A Louisville man" would give it to him. Several retired to the recesses of adjoining counties with crisp new bills that had never been used before. All last night was spent in log rolling. The committees couldn't agree on a report which gave more time to frame up combinations, buy votes and tire out delegates from the county, who wouldn't trade.

How to Barry.

The election of Jack Fisher, of Benton, temporary chairman was a blow to his fellow townsman, Hon. E. Barry, and thereby hangs a tale. Jack was selected delegate in the South Benton district, Barry says at his solicitation. But yesterday Jack transferred his proxy to Henry Holland for the appointment honor of presiding temporarily over the deliberation of the body.

But the worst blow was the adjournment in the afternoon to permit personal work on the delegates. To the astute chairman of the First congressional district is due the credit for putting it over, and all the clever work of the anti-saloon league in the rural precincts was off-set by the superior field generalship of the Democratic district leader.

Up to the adjournment last night there wasn't much else to the convention.

On motion of W. A. Berry the roll was called for nominations for temporary chairman.

On motion of W. A. Berry the roll was called to elect a temporary chairman.

ROLLER HOLDS GOTCH.
Champion Conquered Seattle Doctor, But Had His Troubles.

Kansas City, Mo., April 28.—In the cleanest, fastest, cleverest and most scientific wrestling match ever staged on the Convention hall mat, Frank Gotch gradually wore out and finally conquered the toughest opponent he has faced in many months, Dr. Benjamin Franklin Roller, muscular physician from Seattle, last night. There have been rougher and ruder grappling bouts in the big hall, but never have Kansas Cityans seen a match in which there was speedier footwork, faster thinking, more skill. The roller gentleman from the coast knows something and other things about this wrestling sport, and don't let that elude your memory. Gotch will remember. The champion won the first fall in 37 minutes and 56 seconds, with his favorite hold, a crotch and half-Nelson. The second fall was won by the Iowa in 18 minutes and 29 seconds. A reversed Nelson did the damage. A crowd of 5,500 grappling bugs witnessed the match.

THREE NEW ROADS.
Pine Bluff Knows How to Get Them.

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 28.—At the most enthusiastic and largely attended mass meeting ever held in this city last night, five hundred capitalists and business men, at the Jefferson county court house, put themselves on record as wanting the Pine Bluff North and South railroad, the bridge across the Arkansas river at this point, the Parker road to Monticello and the Rock Island connection from this city to Leola, via Clifton, Cleveland county. A committee of one hundred business men will be named Wednesday by President V. O. Alexander, of the Pine Bluff board of trade to raise $250,000 to secure them. The subscription lists will be separated, which idea carried on a motion of D. C. Bell, and each road will be subscribed to as favored. At the meeting it was the unanimous opinion of the business men that all three roads would be secured without further delay.

FOOD FACTS.
What an M. D. Learned.

A prominent Georgia physician went through a food experience which he makes public:
"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful restorer and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients always gain just as I did in strength and weight very rapidly.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains of this state but two months there did not improve me; in fact, I was not quite as well as when I left home.

"My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public."

Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts, when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body, will work miracles.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Society to Fight Tuberculosis.
The Louisville Evening Post says: "The society element, under the leadership of Mrs. Louis Wymond, will begin an active crusade against the 'white death' and work hand in hand with the Louisville Anti-Tuberculosis association."

"At the last meeting of the official board of the association Mrs. Wymond submitted a plan which so pleased the president, W. C. Nones, and the members that she was requested to take up the work of organization at once."

"Since that time Mrs. Wymond has turned all her energies toward the work and has the personal assurance of nearly every society leader in the city and state that she will get all the assistance she may need from this element."

"Her plan is to organize the city first. This will do by dividing it into districts, precincts and squares. After that shall have been done a certain day will be set aside on which every man, woman and child in Louisville will be acquainted with her plans and enlisted in the battle against this terrible malady."

"Mrs. Wymond will devote the entire spring and summer to this work."

Kentucky Women in the Lead.
As is its annual habit, the Kentucky delegation to the D. A. R. congress is among the foremost on hand, amaret both in the Yankee sense of the word and as regards beauty of toilet. Our Kentucky women know how to dress—and do so. The Kentucky delegation is in a constant flurry of social engagements when their D. A. R. duties are done for the day. The Morgan Statue.
Town Topics has the following: "Kentucky is greatly interested in the equestrian statue which is to be erected in Lexington to commemorate the celebrated Confederate general, John Hunt Morgan. The plaster model under the skilled hands of Signor Coppini, who opened a studio in Lexington for the work, is rapidly approaching completion and the Daughters of the Confederacy, under whose auspices it is being constructed, are delighted at its progress. WOMEN CUTHROATS ARRESTED

Mother and Daughters Who Used Inn to Slay Travelers Caught.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—A band of female cuthroats, who for many months past have been committing with impunity a series of brutal murders, was discovered and arrested in the village of Kurchino, 30 miles from St. Petersburg. The principal culprits are a mother and her two daughters, who kept a tavern. Assisted by other women in the village they murdered travelers who stopped at the inn for the night, disfigured the bodies beyond recognition, and then threw them into a rapidly flowing stream that passed near the inn. Many of these corpses were found.

Ten Doctors Said He Would Die

"In 1903 we wrote you regarding my husband, who was suffering from heart trouble. He was superannated by the North Georgian Conference. Ten doctors at different times said he would die. You advised Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Restorative Nervine; we did as advised, and improvement was apparent from the very first. He recovered and the Conference in 1904 gave him a charge. He never felt better, although he has a great deal of camp meeting work. I am so glad we took your advice and gave him the medicine, and feel that I ought to let you know of the wonderful good results from its use."

CALLOWAY CASES HEARD YESTERDAY

Special Judge Hughes of Paducah Presides.

Human Life Held Cheap By Jurors in the Circuit Court of That County.

TOWN COW ORDINANCE ISSUED

Murray, Ky., April 28. (Special)—Human life is held very cheap in Calloway county, if the verdict of jurors in homicide cases tried in the circuit court of this county during the past few years can be taken as a criterion. In several cases where evidence would have warranted extreme penalties, insignificant sentences of a few years in the penitentiary have been imposed until one would almost believe that murder is condoned rather than punished.

At the present term of court two murder cases have been tried and sentences of two and five years in the penitentiary have been returned. The cases were those of Fred and Victor Jones, charged with the murder of Will Lewis, the killing occurring at a baptizing on Sunday afternoon. Believing that the evidence warranted capital punishment the prosecuting attorneys made strong appeals for the infliction of the death penalty or life sentences. Fred Jones, who admitted the killing, but made the plea of self-defense, was given five years. Victor Jones, who, if implicated in the killing at all, fired a shot into Lewis' back and ran, was sentenced to two years.

The Town Cow.

The town cow furnishes the issue in the campaign now on for city offices in Murray, in lieu of the factional differences that usually control in political affairs in Calloway. The city is rather one-sided, factionally speaking, and "old Sokeky" was the only chance for an argument for the candidates before the primary to be held May 8. That portion of the town's inhabitants who would have the pretty lawns which surround the many pretty homes, made grazing lands for hungry bovines, are busy preparing a slate of candidates for the city council, while those who would have Mrs. Cow remain on the farm where she was sent two years ago, will also put up a ticket and the people will choose which they will serve.

John Jones has resigned as salesman for the tobacco association at Murray. His successor has not been appointed.

Calloway Contests.

Argument on the demurrer to the suit to set aside the Democratic primary held in Calloway county last November because of alleged irregularities, was heard by Hon. D. H. Hughes, of Paducah, special judge selected to try the case, yesterday. The suit was filed by defeated candidates at the primary after notice of contest had been filed before the county committee, but did not appear to prosecute their contest when the committee met to consider it. The demurrer argued yesterday was to the jurisdiction of the state courts in the matter. Judge Hughes reserved his decision for further consideration.

The grounds alleged for the suit by the contestants is that the official call made by the committee for the primary did not comply with the statutes inasmuch as young men who would be 21 before the general election, for which the nominations were made, were allowed to vote, as has been the custom in primaries in this county for years.

It is also alleged that the committee did not post notices that the election was to be held 40 days prior to the date fixed as required by law. Attorneys for the successful candidates contend that the governing authority of the party was the reconvened of the contestants and that they should have appeared before that authority and made their pleas.

Hairmakers' Convention.

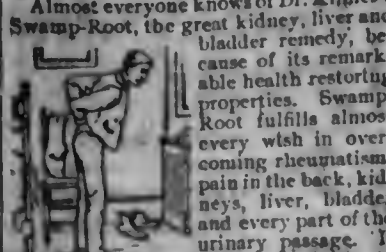

Louisville, April 28.—Louisville is to be honored by the election of Arthur Brown, master hairmaker, for the L. & N. railroad, to the presidency of the International Association of Master Hairmakers, which convenes in annual session at the Seelbach tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The election will be in recognition of Mr. Brown's services in behalf of the organization and of his gallant and winning fight in bringing the convention to Louisville from a strong opposition at the convention of last year at Detroit.

Starting an Endless Chain.

Both father and mother struggled valiantly to teach little Effie to repeat the letter "A." The child emphatically refused to pronounce the first letter of the alphabet and after many vain efforts the father retired from the fight discouraged. The mother took the little girl on her lap and pleaded with her affectionately. "Dorrie, why won't you learn to say 'A'?" she asked. "Because, mamma," explained Effie, "as soon as I say 'A' you say 'B' and I will want you to say 'B'."

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Newburgh, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

IN "DRY" COLUMN

TWO MORE INDIANA COUNTIES TO QUEST SALOONS.

Jackson County Defeats the Wets by About 370 and White by Close to 1,000.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 28.—White and Jackson counties, the latter containing the important city of Seymour, voted under the county local option law and both are in the dry column. The wets carried Seymour by 203 majority, but this was overcome by the county vote and the county is dry by about 370 majority.

White county, which contains no important city proved an easy field for the local optionists, and the official count will show a majority close to 1,000. The contest in both counties was characterized by a good deal of bitterness, but the elections passed off without trouble at the polls, the chief feature being the work of the women, who served hot lunches to the workers. Twenty-seven saloons go out of business as a result of the vote in the two counties. This score makes forty-four counties that have voted dry out of a total of forty-seven local option elections held under the county law.

Mayor Prohibits Parade.

Chillicothe, O., April 28.—Mayor Wallace D. Yaple has prohibited by proclamation the parade announced by the non-voters of this city, composed largely of the church women and Sunday school children of this city, which was to take place Tuesday afternoon. The parade is under the auspices of the local option committee in charge of the contest of the "drys" against the "wets."

A GREAT DISCOVERY.

Certain Ingredients That Really Grow Hair When Properly Combined.

Resorelin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its natural nourishment, and also creates a clean, healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs. Pilocarpin, although not a coloring matter or dye, is a well-known ingredient for restoring the hair to its natural color, when the loss of hair has been caused by a disease of the scalp. These ingredients in proper combination, with alcohol added as a stimulant and for its well defined nourishing properties, perfect the most effective remedy that is known for scalp and hair troubles.

We have a remedy which is chiefly composed of these ingredients, in combination with other extremely invaluable medicinal agents. We guarantee it to positively cure dandruff and to grow hair; even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair. If there is any vitality left in the roots, it will positively cure baldness. If the scalp has a glazed shiny appearance, it is an indication that baldness is permanent, but in every other instance, baldness is curable.

We want everyone troubled with scalp disease or loss of hair to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not cure dandruff and grow hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. We print this guarantee on every bottle. It has effected a positive cure in 83 per cent of cases where put to a practical test.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike, and in every particular better, than anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is prescribed. We urge you to try this preparation at our entire risk. Certainly we know of no better guarantee to give you. Two sizes 50c and $1.00.

BENEFITS SECURED

TO PADUCAH HIGH SCHOOL BY NEW ARRANGEMENT.

Pupils From Local School May Enter University of Chicago.

In explanation of the benefits secured by the Paducah High school being placed on the list of co-operative secondary schools of the University of Chicago, the following statement has been received by Superintendent Carnegie:

Any graduate of a secondary school in co-operation with the University of Chicago, presenting at the office of admissions at the university one of the certificates signed by the faculty and the principal of the school showing that the full amount of college preparatory work has been done, will be accepted at the university on such certificate and without entrance examination.

The officers of a co-operating school have the privilege of nominating one member of each graduating class for a scholarship at the university of Chicago.

Each co-operating school may send to the annual oratorical contest occurring at the University of Chicago in November of each year, one boy and one girl. The successful contestants are awarded a scholarship for which meets at the university in June.

Seniors in co-operating schools may in any number enter competitive honor examinations in certain subjects, the successful contestants being entitled to a scholarship in the university for one year.

The principals and instructors in co-operating schools are members of the annual education conference which meets at the university in November.

Members of the teaching staff of co-operating high schools may pursue studies at the University of Chicago in the summer quarter at one-half the usual tuition rates. Enquiries concerning these scholarships, or any other matters involved in the relations of students admitted from co-operating schools, should be addressed to Professor Frank J. Miller, university examiner for secondary schools, the University of Chicago.

In view of possible changes in the administration of the school, the university reserves the right to revoke the certificate any time upon due notice of the school. Nathaniel Butler, director of co-operating work.

Anty Drudge Dries Miss Pretty-girl's Tears.

Anty Drudge—"Why, what's the matter, dear? What are you crying about?"

Miss Prettygirl—"Oh, my beautiful new waist is ruined and it just makes me sick. That clumsy Will Johnson upset a plate of refreshments on it last night at the party, and spoiled all my fun."

Anty Drudge—"And his, too, I'll warrant. But dry your eyes, dear. It was all an accident, no doubt, but you feel so badly that you have to blame someone. Now if you had only known of Fels-Naptha you could have passed it off as a joke, enjoyed yourself and spared Will an uncomfortable time."

There's a right way and a wrong way to do everything.

And there is a new way and an old way to do almost everything.

The new way to wash clothes is the Fels-Naptha way—in cool or lukewarm water, no boiling, either in winter or summer, and little rubbing.

And the Fels-Naptha is the right way as well—saves time, saves the back, saves fuel, and the wash comes out cleaner, sweeter, whiter.

It is up to you to choose between the new and the old, the right and the wrong way of doing your washing.

Simple directions for washing and other household cleaning are printed on the inside of the red and green wrapper.

WORLD SUFFRAGISTS ASSEMBLED

International Meeting in London Addressed By Americans.

London, April 28.—The attendance of delegates at the fifth congress of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, which opened here, was the largest in the history of the organization. Mrs. Carly Chapman Catt of New York, president of the International League of Woman Suffragists, occupied the chair.

Mrs. Catt's physical condition is such that she will be compelled to absent herself from all social functions and take the utmost precautions to guard her strength. She spoke for more than an hour at the meeting, however. Her address was strictly confined to international aspects and she rejected all requests either to condemn or approve the methods of the militant suffragettes in Great Britain. She declared that a neutral attitude was the proper one.

for the guests of the country, since, she added, "all eyes are upon England, where conditions exist such as are found in no other country."

Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, of New York, brought greetings from the American women. The afternoon meeting was addressed by Miss Helen Kaughly.

CHAPTER VII.
THE MAGIC OF BEN STARK.

BEFORE the party came insight the sound of their voices reached the cabin, and Burrell rose nervously and sauntered to the door. Uncertain how this affair might terminate, he chose to get first look at his enemies. If they should prove to be such, realizing the advantage that goes to a man who stands squarely on both feet. Then he heard Lee say:

"Well, I'll be d—d! Somebody's here ahead of us."
"We've been beaten!" growled Stark angrily, pushing past him and coming around the corner, an ugly look in his eyes.

"Good afternoon," Burrell nodded pleasantly.
Lee answered him unattractively. Stark said nothing, but Burrell's exclamation was plain.
"It's that cursed blue belly!"
"When did you get here?" said Stark after a pause.
"A few hours ago."
"How did you come?" asked Lee.
"Black Bear creek," said the soldier curtly, at which Burrell broke into profanity.

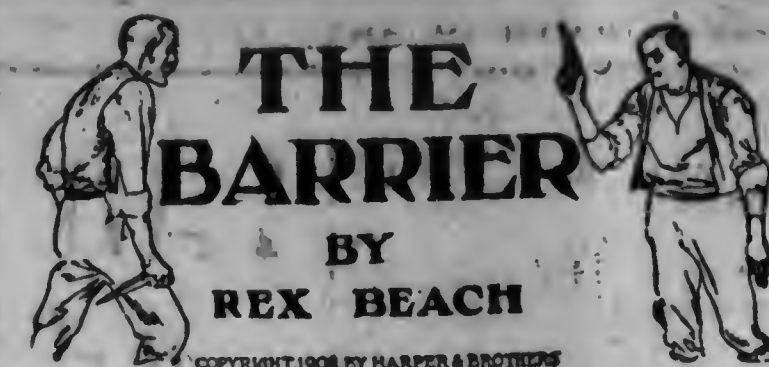

"Water bush," Burrell admonished him. "There's a lady inside." And at that instant Neela showed her laughing face under his arm, while the trader uttered her name in amazement.
"Lunch is ready," she said. "We've been expecting you for quite awhile."
"The girl! But's funny thing to see!" said Poleon. "Who told you 'bout this strike, eh?"
"Mother, I made her," the girl answered.

"Take off your packs and come in," Burrell invited, but Stark strode for ward.
"Hold on a minute. This don't look good to me. You say your mother told you. I suppose you're Old Man Gale's other daughter, eh?"
Neela nodded.
"What time of day was it when you learned about this?"
"Cut that out!" roughly interjected Gale. "Do you think I double crossed you?"
The other turned upon him.

"It looks that way, and I intend to find out. You said yesterday you hadn't told anybody."
"I didn't think about the woman," said the trader, a trifle disconcerted whereupon Burrell gave vent to an ironical sneer.
"But here's your girl and this man ahead of us. I suppose there's other on the way too."
"None!" Burrell cut in.
"I call it rickety work," chuckled the Canadian, slipping out of his straps. "Do next time I go stampeding I take you 'long, Neela."
"Me, too," said Lee. "And now I'm going to tear into some of them beans I smell a-billin' in yonder."
The others followed, although Stark and Burrell looked black and had little to say. It was an uncomfortable meal. Every one was ill at ease. Gale in particular was quiet and ate less than any of them. His eyes sought Stark's face frequently, and once the blood left his cheeks and his eyes blazed as he observed the gambler boldly eyeing Neela.

"You are a mighty good looking girl for a 'blood,'" remarked Stark at last.
"Thank you," she replied simply, and the soldier's dislike of the man crystallized into hate on the instant. There was a tone back of his words that seemed aimed at the trader, Meade thought, but Gale showed no sign of it, as the meal was finished in silence, after which the five belated prospectors went out to make their locations, for the fear of interruption was upon them now.

First they went downstream, and, according to their agreement, the trader started first, followed by Poleon and Stark, thus throwing Burrell's claim more than a mile distant from Lee's discovery. From here they went up the creek to find the girl's other locations, one on each branch, at which Stark merely remarked that she had pre-empted enough ground for a full grown white woman.
Burrell's displeasure was even more open, and he fell into foul mouthed mutterings, addressing himself to Poleon and Stark while the trader was out of earshot.

"This ain't don't smell right, and I still think it's a frame-up."
"Bull!" exclaimed Doret.
"The old man sent the girl on ahead of us to blanket all the good ground. That's what he did!"
"Wait a minute!" interrupted Poleon, his voice as soft as a woman's. "I tell you that I know all 'bout this Black Bear creek too. You 'member, eh? Well, maybe you 'luk I'm traitor too? What? Why don't you spit out?"
The three of them were alone, and only the sound of Gale's ax came to them, but at the light in the Canadian's face Burrell hastily disclaimed any such thought on his part, and Stark shrugged his denial.

There are men quite devoid of the ability to read the human face, and Burrell was of this species. Moreover, malice was so bitter in his mouth that he must have it out. So when they paused to blaze the next stake he addressed himself to Stark loud enough for Poleon to hear.
"That Lieutenant is more of a man than I thought he was."
"How so?" inquired the older man.
"Well, it takes nerve to steal a girl or one night and then face the father, but the old man don't seem to mind it any more than she does. I guess he knows what it means, all right."

Stark laughed raucously.
"That's probably how Gale got his quaw," concluded Burrell, with a sneer.
It seemed a full minute before the Frenchman gave sign that he had heard; then a strange cry broke from his throat, and he began to tremble as if with cold. He was no longer the finger of songs or the man who was 'lover a boy. The mocking anger of a moment ago was gone. In its place was a consuming fury that sucked the blood from beneath his tan, leaving him the pallor of ashes, while his mouth twitched and his head rolled slightly from side to side like a palsied old man's. But evidently Poleon meant no violence, for he allowed the passion to run from him freely until it had spent its vigor, then said to Burrell:

"Somebody goin' die for w'at you say just now. Maybe it's goin' be you, m'ale; maybe it's goin' be him. I can't tell yet, but I'm hope an' pray it's goin' be you, because I think w'at you say is a lie, an' nobody can spit words like the bent Neela Gale."
He went crashing blindly through the underbrush, his head wagging, his shoulders slumped loosely forward like those of a drunken man, his lips framing words he could not understand.
When he had disappeared Burrell drew a deep breath.

"I guess I've framed something for Mr. Burrell this time."
"You go about it queer," said Stark. "I'd rather tackle a gang saw than a man like Poleon Doret. Your frame-up may work double."
"Huh! No chance. The soldier was out all night alone with that half breed girl, and anybody can see she's crazy about him. What's the answer?"
"Have you got your eye on her too?"
"Sure! Do you blame me?"
"No, but she's too good for you. Better stay out," the gambler advised. As a matter of fact, I don't like her father any better than you like her lovers."

"Well, it's mutual. I can see Gale hates you like poison."
"—and I don't intend to see him and his tribe hog all the best ground hereabouts."
"They've already done it. You can't stop them."
"Yes, I can stop them," said Stark. "I want the ground that girl has staked, and I'm going to get it. It lies next to Lee's, and it's sure to be rich. Ours is so far away it may not be worth the recorder's fees. This creek may be as spotted as a coach dog, so I don't intend to take any chances."
"She made her locations legally," said Burrell.

"You leave that to me. When will the other boys be here?"
"Tomorrow morning. I told them to follow about four hours behind and not to run on us till we had finished. They'll camp a few miles down the creek and be in early."
"You couldn't get but three, eh?"
"That's all I could find who would agree to give up half."
"Can we count on them?"
"Huh!" the other grunted. "They worked with me and Soapy Smith on the Skagway trail."
"Good—d— against three, not counting the girl and the lieutenant," Stark mused. "Well, that will do it." He outlined his plan; then the two returned to the cabin to find Lee cooking supper.

over the Gaylor man, for Bennett had been running second best from the start, and everybody thought it was settled between her and the other one. However, they were married quietly.

The story did not interest the Canadian. His mind was in too great agitation to care for dead tales. His heart burned within him too fiercely, and he felt too great a desire to put his hands to work. As he watched Burrell and Rannion bend over the table looking at a little can of gold dust that Lee had taken from under his bunk his eyes grew red and bloodshot beneath his hat brim. Which one of the two would it be? he wondered.

From the corner of his eye he saw Gale rise from Lee's bed, where he had stretched himself to smoke, and take his six shooter from his belt, then remove the knotted bandanna from his neck and begin to clean the gun, his head bowed over it earnestly, his face in the shadow. He had ever been a careful and methodical man, reflected Poleon, and evidently would not go to sleep with his firearm in bad condition.

"Nobody imagined that Gaylor would cause trouble," Stark was saying, "for he didn't seem to be a jealous sort, just stupid and kind of heavy witted. But one night he took advantage of Bennett's absence and sneaked up to the house." The story teller paused, and Neela, who was under the spell of his recital, urged him on:

"Yes, yes. What happened then? Go on!" But Stark stared gloomily at his hands and held his silence for a full minute, the tale appearing to have weakened more than a fleeting interest in him.
"It was one of the worst killings that ever happened in those parts," he continued. "Bennett came back to find his wife murdered and the kid gone."
"Oh!" said the girl in a shocked voice.

"Yes, there was a deuce of a time. The town rose up in a body, and we see, I happened to be there—we followed the man for weeks. We trailed him and the kid clear over into the Nevada desert, where we lost them."
"He died of thirst in the desert maybe, he and the little one."
"That's what we thought at the time, but I've crossed his trail since then. No, Gaylor is alive today, and so is the girl. Some time we'll meet." His voice gave out, and he stared again at the floor.

"Couldn't the little girl be traced?" said Neela. "What was her name?"
Stark made to speak, but the word was never uttered, for there came a deafening roar that caused Lee's candle to leap and flicker and the air inside the cabin to strike the occupants like a blow. Instantly there was confusion, and each man sprang to his feet, crying out affrightedly, for the noise had come with utter unexpectedness.

"My God, I've killed him!" cried Gale. And with one jump he cleared half the room and was beside Stark, while his revolver lay on the floor where he had been sitting.
"What is it?"
But there was no need to ask, for powder smoke was beginning to fill the room, and the trader's face gave answer. It was whiter than that of his daughter, who had crouched fearfully against the wall, and he shook like a man with ague. But Stark stood unbent and more composed than any of them. Following the first bound from his chair, he had relapsed into his customary quiet. There had blazed up one momentary flash of suspicion and anger, but it died straightway, for no man could have beheld the trader and not felt contrition. His condition was pitiable, and the sight of a strong man overcome is not pleasant. When it was seen that no harm had been done the others strove to make light of the accident.

"Get together, all of you! It's nothing to be excited over," said Stark. "How did it happen?" Burrell finally asked Gale, who had sunk limply upon the edge of the bunk, but where the old man undertook to answer his words were unintelligible, and he shook his head helplessly.
Stark laid his finger on the hole that the bullet had bored in the log close to where he was sitting and laughed.
"Never mind, old man; it missed me by six inches. You know there never was a bullet that could kill me. I'm six shooter proof."
"What'd I tell you?" triumphantly ejaculated Lee to the lieutenant.

Doret of all in the cabin had said nothing. Seated apart from the others he had seen the affair from a distance, as it were, and now stepped to the bed to lay his hand on Gale's shoulder.
"Brace up, John. Sacre bleu! Your face look lak fire. Come outside an' get it air."
Poleon led his friend down the trail for half a mile without speaking till Gale had regained a grip of himself and muttered faintly:
"I never did such a thing before, Poleon; never in all my life."
"Why?" insisted the Frenchman.
"—I—I—I—What do you mean?"
"Don't lie wit' me, John. I'm happen to be watch you undernest' my bat w'en you turn round for see if anybody lookin'!"
"I thought you were asleep," said Gale.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

A SURE CURE FOR MANGY DOGS AND ANIMALS.
A physician in the city, from Detroit, suggests the following remedy for mange. He was a visitor at police headquarters today, and called Chief Collins' attention to the great number of animals he had seen in the city afflicted with the disease, and offered the suggestion as something that can be easily applied by any one. He says one application of the yellow water pumped from underground pipes will affect a cure, that the animals treated must be thoroughly wet with it. Mange is caused, he says, by an insect and the water kills them off.

TAFT PRAISES GEN. U. S. GRANT

Makes Assertions He Was a Military Genius.

Brought About Peace by Manner in Which He Convinced Confederate Armies of Federal Strength.

NO SECTIONAL BITTERNESS

Philadelphia, April 28.—President Taft last night was the principal speaker at the Grant birthday dinner of the Union League in this city and paid a striking tribute to the soldier president. Taft was sharply criticized a year ago because of his references to General Grant and he took advantage of last night's opportunity to express anew his admiration for General Grant as a man, a soldier and chief executive of the United States.

When the president arrived last evening he was met at the station by an immense throng and given an enthusiastic welcome. Entering an automobile the president was escorted to the Union League club house by the first city troop of cavalry. The streets were lined with crowds of people who cheered vociferously.

At the club house the president held a reception for more than an hour.

At the banquet Taft paid tribute to the soldier statesman. He defended Grant against the assertions that he was not a military genius and declared that the general represented the very genius of the war to suppress the rebellion, because it was his mind that grasped the thought that until we had met and fought the opponents and convinced them of our strength we could not expect to have a united country.

These things he did and brought about a condition of complete peace. Taft spoke especially of the spirit of the peace made at Appomattox and Grant's magnanimity and far-sightedness. This spirit we now rejoice in, he president declared, and in the two sections of the country there is no remaining bitterness. He expressed the belief that it is possible to bring the two sections even closer together.

Other speakers were Gen. Horace Porter, Governor Stuart, of Pennsylvania, and Mayor Reeburn, of Philadelphia.

Celebrate at Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, April 28.—Secretary of State Knox was toastmaster and Major General Frederick Dent Grant the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the American Republican club in commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of General Ulysses S. Grant last night. Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, Representative Fowler, of Vermont; Representative McKinley, of California; Gen. Frederick Grant and Lieutenant U. S. Grant, of Illinois, spoke briefly.

DANDRUFF

Used in Two Weeks or Money Back. In fact W. J. Gilbert, the druggist, has a wonderfully efficient hair restorer called Parisian Sage which costs only 50 cents a bottle that is guaranteed to cure dandruff in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is the discovery of one of the world's greatest scientists, who knowing the value of sage as a scalp cleaner and hair restorer, combined it with other ingredients in proper proportions, and the result is the most wonderful hair tonic in the world.

Parisian Sage is a most pleasant, faintly perfumed hair dressing, and besides curing dandruff, your druggist will return your money if it fails to stop falling hair or itching of the scalp.

It will make hair grow, and women who desire soft, beautiful and luxuriant hair can have it in two weeks by using this famous, quick acting preparation. W. J. Gilbert sells it under a guarantee.

Don't let any druggist tell you he has something just as good as Parisian Sage because there isn't any hair restorer so good. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package, and you get a much larger bottle of Parisian Sage for your 50 cents than you get of the ordinary.

"I have used various hair tonics and can say that Parisian Sage gave the hair a good, healthy, silky appearance, rid the head of dandruff, and keeps the scalp cool and clean. I recommend Parisian Sage as being fine for the hair and far ahead of any other tonic I ever used." Miss Emma Foss, 529 Adams street, Owosso, Mich., December 9, 1908.

ADANA IS A HELL SAYS MISSIONARY

Describes the Terrible Scenes Attending Massacre.

Terrible Cruelty of the Wild Hordes of Fanatics in the Town.

OFFICIALS WERE COWARDS.

Constantinople, April 28.—The following account of the disorders at Adana has been received here by telegraph from the Rev. Herbert Adams Gibbons, a missionary:

"The entire village of Adana has been the scene, during the last five days, of a terrible massacre of Armenians, the worst ever known in the history of the district. The terror has been universal and the government is powerless to check the disorders. Adana, the capital of the province, has been the storm center.

"Conditions have been unsettled for some time and there has been animosity between Turks and Armenians, owing to the political activity of the latter and their open purchasing of arms.

Armenians Hurry Home.

"Early last Wednesday morning while I was in the market, I noticed that the Armenians were closing their shops and hurrying to their homes. An Armenian and a Turk had been killed during the night and the corpses were paraded through their respective quarters. The sight of the dead inflamed the inhabitants, and crowds at once began to gather in the streets armed with sticks, axes and knives.

"A few young Armenians assembled in the center of the covered market and began firing revolvers into the air. By 11 o'clock in the morning the crowd had begun the looting of shops.

"The military commander of Adana was by my side in the market when the firing commenced. He had not the courage to endeavor to disperse the mob; he returned to his residence and did not venture out for two days.

Found Howling Mob.

"William Chambers, field secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, and myself proceeded to the Konak and found a howling mob, demanding arms with which to kill the Christians. We then went to the telegraph office to summon the British consul. On the steps of the building we saw three Armenians who had been massacred. Their bodies had been mutilated. While we were in the telegraph office a mob burst into the room where we were and killed two Armenians before our eyes. The unfortunate were supplanting the pain of the Vail when they were struck down.

Fearful for Own Life.

"We managed to make our way into the next room, where we made representations to the Vail. This official said he could do nothing. He was afraid for his own life, and he made no attempt to protect us. Somehow we managed to get to the interior of the Konak, where we remained at the side of the government officials for the next forty-eight hours.

"That afternoon the situation grew distinctly worse. The Armenians withdrew to their quarter of Adana, which is situated on a hill and converted their houses that held advantageous positions into fortresses. Here the fighting went on for two days during which the Armenians succeeded in beating off the Turkish assaults.

"Wednesday evening Major Daugherty-Wylie, the British vice consul at Mersina, arrived at Adana and established headquarters in the house of a dragoman of a wealthy Greek resident, where many refugees had been received. The wife of the British vice consul, who was brought into Adana under fire on Thursday, tended personally many wounded women and children.

Adana Was a Hell.

"Adana was a hell. The bazaars were looted and set on fire. There was continuous and unceasing shooting and killing in every part of the town, and fires raged in many quarters.

"Moslems from the neighborhood began pouring into the city, and notwithstanding of vehement protests, the Vail distributed arms to these men, alleging they were Turkish reserves.

"Major Daugherty-Wylie, at the head of troops which he compelled the Vail to supply, went to the railroad end of the town and was successful in preventing the villagers from coming into Adana. Later, while the major was attempting to pacify the town, he was shot and disabled.

Missionaries' Work.

"Missionaries of the Central Turkey mission had assembled for a dis-strict conference in the center of Adana on the day of the outbreak. They received and protected hundreds of refugees in the American seminary for girls, and courageously endeavored to pacify the warring elements.

"On Thursday, Daniel Miller Rogers and Henry Maurer, American missionaries, were killed under treacherous circumstances.

"On Friday the Armenians yielded since when there has been little murthering.

In Pitiable Condition.

"Adana is in a pitiable condition. The town has been pillaged and wrecked and there are thousands of homeless people here without means of livelihood. It is impossible to estimate the number of killed. The corpses lie scattered through the streets. Friday, when I went out, I had to pick my way between the dead.

"Sunday morning I counted a dozen cartloads of Armenian bodies in one-half hour being carried to the river and thrown into the water. In the Turkish cemeteries graves are being dug wholesale. The condition of the refugees is most pitiable. Not only are there orphans and widows beyond number, but a great many, even the babies, are suffering from severe wounds.

Situation Unspendable.

"The situation in Adana itself is unspendable. On Friday afternoon 250 so-called Turkish reserves, without officers, seized a train at Adana and compelled the engineer to convey them to Tarsus, where they took part in the destruction of the Armenian quarter of that town, which is the best part of Tarsus. Their work of looting was thorough and rapid. It is said that they fired the great historic Armenian church at Tarsus, the most important building in the city. They demolished marble statues and shattered important historic tablets. Everything portable was carried away but the church itself resisted their attempts to burn it. Fortunately few persons were killed there. This was owing to the proximity of the American college, where 1,000 destitute and homeless persons had sought refuge."

Farmers' Union to Support Scott Hill Aimed at Manipulation.

Washington, April 28.—Hatten W. Summers of Dallas, Tex., has pledged to Representative Scott of Kansas, chairman of the house committee on agriculture, the support of the Farmers' Union and the entire agricultural interests of the Southwest, in his efforts to stop "gambling" in farm products.

Mr. Summers represented the Farmers' Union in the recent hearing before the committee on agriculture.

At the Market.

Mrs. C.—Good morning Bridget. I hope your master and mistress haven't forgotten that they're coming to dine with me tonight.

"Cook—Indeed and they're not—they've ordered a good heavy meal at home at six o'clock.—Harper's Bazar.

READ ADMIRAL MILLER DIES IN NEW JERSEY

Newark, N. J., April 28.—Rear Admiral Joseph Nelson Miller, U. S. N., died at his home in East Orange today. Rear Admiral Miller retired from active service in November, 1898. Born in Springfield, O., in 1836, he was graduated from the naval academy at Annapolis in 1856 and served during the civil war, participating in both attacks on Fort Fisher and in other notable engagements. He rapidly won promotion and after the war was assigned to important commands.

WRIGHT SELLS ITALIAN RIGHTS FOR $200,000

London, April 28.—The Home correspondent of the Globe says that Wilbur Wright has sold the Italian rights to his aeroplane for 1,000,000 lire (about $200,000) to a syndicate, which will at once begin the construction of military and other machines. Aeroplaning promises to become by far the most popular craze in Italian society, the correspondent says. Mr. Wright has received more than two hundred letters from aristocratic ladies, asking to be taken for a flight.

DAIRY INDUSTRY IN THE SOUTH

Campaign of Education Being Conducted.

Agricultural Department Sees a Drawback in This Section Is Lack of Good Cows.

HOME-GROWN FEED NEEDED

Situation in the South.

In speaking of the situation in the south with reference to the dairy industry, Mr. B. H. Rawl, Chief of the Division of Dairying, Department of Agriculture, recently said: "The south has not come to a realization of her opportunities as a dairy section. There is no reason why the south should not in time take rank with the northern states in the quality and quantity of dairy products. But in order to do this the southern farmer must redirect his farming methods. He has impoverished his soil for so many decades, without giving it anything in return, that new and radical methods in agriculture must be devised. If we can once get the farmer in the south to realize the value of dairying, and if he will undertake it in earnest, he will become a feed producer, and this is exactly what they need in the south in order to build up the impoverished soil. The result would be that in a few years dairying would work wonderful changes in soil conditions, and this industry should become as profitable as in the north. Several of the southern states offer unusually good advantages, both in climate and in soil conditions, to the dairy industry. This is especially true of Tennessee, which is well adapted to this phase of agriculture."

"The cattle tick has been a serious drawback to the dairy industry in the south, it is true, but in my opinion within the next ten or fifteen years this dread cattle disease will be virtually under control in the sections affected. The federal government has done much to eradicate this disease, but much depends upon the activity of local and state authorities."

Good Will of Farmers. Efforts are being made by the department of agriculture to assist the southern farmer to overcome each and every one of the disadvantages referred to, and to co-operate with them in the starting of this industry aright. Nine men under the direction of the dairy division of the department have been engaged for the past three years in the dairy work in the south, and it is gratifying to know that their work has enlisted the good will of the farmers. Assistance has been rendered in the remodeling of old barns, the building of new ones, the construction of silos, the selection and breeding of herds and the keeping of records of feed and of the products of the dairy herds. Local market conditions of the sources of the supplies that are brought into the south from outside territory have been investigated.

As an example of what is being accomplished in this respect, it may be stated that twelve months' records of 719 cows in small herds located in various parts of the south show an average profit of $94.40, and the poorest a loss of $3.75. The average profit of the best ten cows was $79.24, while the poorest ten cows made an average loss of 1 per cent. The dairy experts of the department of agriculture have found out that it often happens that what are regarded as the best cows show, when tested, much poorer results than others in the herd, and it is by keeping records and compiling such information as the foregoing that the farmer is enabled to eliminate the poorer animals and to bring up the average production of his herd to a profitable point.

Assistance Rendered. Not the least of the assistance rendered the Department of Agriculture through its nine field agents is the help given the southern farmer in furnishing plans for and supervising the erection of silos, barns and dairy houses. Not only does the department furnish the plans for the buildings, but one of these men is right on the ground during the time of construction, to assist in any way possible. Reports received here in Washington indicate that the work in this connection is progressing in a most satisfactory manner and that the farmers of the south are falling in line with the suggestions and assistance given them. In the opinion of the government officials, there is every indication in the south of an awakening of the farmers to the possibilities of the dairy industry. During the past year the department assisted in constructing for southern farmers about 100 silos, 35 barns and 10 dairy houses, and a much larger number of such buildings are contemplated for the present year.

Perhaps the results of the work in herd testing have been as valuable as that of any other to the farmer in the south. During the year this work has begun with 116 herds containing 3,921 cows; 43 of these herds containing 1,428 cows discarded before the work had been in progress very long because of the indifference of the owners. With 84 herds containing 2,493 cows the work is being successfully conducted. As soon as results are obtained from the record work, the owner usually purchases a pure bred bull for his herd unless he already had one.

Scores of Letters.

The department of agriculture is receiving scores of letters from appreciative farmers who have profited by the work being done in their behalf. The following from a Georgia farmer is typical:

"I want to tell you how much help the department has been to me through Mr. J. E. Dorman (Field Agent). He came to us when we were about to get discouraged with the dairy. Cotton seed products were high priced, and we were feeding large quantities of it to a herd of twenty dairy cows. We thought they were all good ones. When Mr. Dorman came he did not criticize our methods severely or point out a dozen cows we ought to get rid of. He gave us some record sheets and advised us to keep a record of each cow carefully. We did this. A list was made each month. It took nearly a year to convince us that some of our favorite cows were losing us money. But as soon as this was found out they were disposed of. The first winter Mr. Dorman visited us we milked twenty cows most of the time, and shipped an average of one hundred pounds of butter per week. The second winter we milked twelve to fourteen cows and shipped an average of ninety-nine pounds per week. The difference was due to silos, scales and Babcock test. There are many farmers needing just this sort of help I have had. I could point out a dozen who want to start dairies, and they want to start right."

It is the purpose of the department to carry on this educational work in the south in co-operation with the state authorities and institutions as far as possible, and to prevail upon the states to take up and continue the work so that the department may, in time, drop out of this field. But it does not feel inclined to do so until the work becomes more firmly established. Several of the states have provided men and appropriations for such work, and as the good results become more apparent the interest is increased.

ADAM STEVENSON, FORMER VICE PRESIDENT, U. S. Chicago, April 23.—Friends of Adam Stevenson, former vice president of the United States, fear he may not recover from the shock of sudden deaths of sisters and brothers, within the past ten days. He has been sick in a local hospital for weeks and has suffered a relapse. The doctors say his condition is not alarming, but owing to his advanced age, his friends are alarmed.

Defends Story of Extra Rib. Chicago.—In defiance of the higher criticism, the Rev. Frederick E. Hopkins, congregational, comes out in defense of the biblical account of woman's creation.

"Infidels all laugh at Adam's rib," he says. "They tell us the Bible begins with a joke, that it is ridiculous to suppose that woman was made as Genesis describes. We do not care to argue that point, further than to remark that no one except the author of the first book in the Bible has ever given as satisfactory an explanation of the beginning of things from a spiritual standpoint."

"Before we dismiss a book which contains what some think is such a ridiculous story, let us stop long enough to ask if, after all, the mere invention of the story does not make the book worth while? Who today, after he has had a jolly good laugh, will rise and explain how it ever occurred to anybody to provide for the continuation of human life on this planet by establishing the family relation? Could anything be more perfect than just to say 'I will make a helpmeet for him,' and the thing was done?"

"It is a huge joke that lies at the bottom of the marriage relation and the home? Are the words of the most beautiful of ceremonies but an echo of an ancient and childish fable?"

LEAD TAKEN OFF BRAIN.

California Doctor Performs Wonderful Operation and Man Lives.

San Francisco, Cal., April 23.—More than 100 grains of flattened and twisted lead were removed Saturday from the brain of Eugene Moore, formerly of Plainfield, N. J., the man who tried to commit suicide last week in Golden Gate park, and now all the doctors connected with the University of California have been marveling that he suffered no more than the loss of his eye sight.

Since he shot himself in the right temple and after the bullet passed through the eye ball on the side, it crashed through the nasal bone and lodged inside the ethmoid just within the delicate covering membranes of the brain.

The operation was performed by Dr. Harold Brunn.

"BREX FOX II" AT MEMPHIS.

Speed Marvel Motor Boat on Last Half of Sensational Trip.

Memphis, April 23.—"Brex Fox II," the speed marvel motor boat, on a sensational run against time from Cincinnati to New Orleans, paid Memphis a short visit yesterday morning, arriving at 9 o'clock and leaving at 10:15, after taking on gasoline and other supplies.

K. B. Dean, owner of the "Brex Fox II," has announced his intention of making the distance between Cincinnati and New Orleans in 60 hours. Memphis is the nearest half-way point, and yesterday morning the little speed marvel had fairly skimmed across half the distance in twenty-four hours. From now on it is only a question of endurance, and it was for the purpose of demonstrating the durability of the "Brex Fox" engines that the effort is being made to break all records.

RAILROAD RATE WAR.

Chesapeake and Ohio Makes Big Cut Effective May 24.

Washington, April 23.—A rate war among the eastern trunk lines is nearly inevitable, in the opinion of the interstate commerce commission. Thus far the trouble extends only to rates on import traffic west bound, but the likelihood is that it will extend, before a great while, to domestic traffic.

The trouble was precipitated some time ago by the Boston and Maine railroad in wiping out a differential of one cent a hundred pounds or import traffic west bound, which had existed for years between Boston and the ports of New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia. It was not expected the trunk lines generally would meet the reduction made by the Boston and Maine, but a day or two ago the Chesapeake and Ohio reduced its rate from Norfolk to meet the Boston and Maine's rate. The Chesapeake and Ohio rate goes into effect on May 24.

WATER FOR SCORCHERS.

Fire Hose Will Be Used to Bring Them to Halt.

Chicago, April 23.—A water gun is the latest weapon to be used against scorching motorists. One has been erected on Calumet boulevard the main thoroughfare of Hammond, Ind., and it will be brought into play for the first time next Sunday.

Chief of Police Austgen, of Hammond, is the inventor of the new law-enforcing device. It will be operated by firemen on telephonic instructions from the police. If an automobilist at either end of the boulevard fails to heed the command of the police to slack up a message will be sent to the fire house and when the headless motorist comes within range of the water gun, he will be bombarded with a three inch stream of water traveling as fast as a 100 pound pressure will send it.

TAX ON IMMIGRANTS.

Overman of North Carolina Would Make It $12 a Head.

Washington, April 23.—Mr. Overman, of North Carolina, offered an amendment to the tariff bill in the senate by which he proposes to place a head tax of $12 on each immigrant coming into the United States.

Mr. Overman proceeded to discuss his amendment by unanimous consent. He declared it was in the interest of revenue and protection to American labor.

That the tax he desired to have provided for aliens has been held constitutional by the United States supreme court was one of the arguments Mr. Overman offered in support of his amendment.

"It means not only revenue for the treasury," he said, "but also a select class of immigrants, and therefore it protects labor."

Mr. Overman estimated that the head tax on aliens which he proposed would bring to the government six to ten millions of dollars of revenue.

GRAND JURY SUMMONED TO INVESTIGATE LYNCHING.

Ada, Okla., April 23.—The grand jury has been impaneled here today to investigate the lynching of four white men last week. Instructions given to sift the matter to the bottom. The attorney general sent an assistant to aid in the investigation, and efforts will be made to obtain the name of every man in the mob.
